MARQUIP

MARQUIP 1000W 'HOT ROD' INDUCTION HEATER IN ALUMINIUM CASE

Utilizes high-frequency electromagnetic fields to induce eddy currents in ferrous & non-ferrous metals, generates heat internally without open flame. Not suitable for stainless steel. Strong, thermoplastic housing, includes a cooling fan with overheat protection, bright LED light, indicator light changes from white to yellow if the unit overheats. Slip resistant ergonomic handle for improved grip & comfort. Comes with 8 induction coils, other sizes available Aluminium case.

Ideal for loosening seized nuts, bolts & other hardware, such as lug nuts or fuel tank straps, heating & freeing up tight or rusted fittings.
Can be used to remove soft dents in sheet metal without the damage from open flames.

How it works:

An induction coil is placed around or near the metal part to be heated converting the current to a high-frequency alternating magnetic field. inducing electrical eddy currents in the metal. The internal resistance of the metal generates heat, making the part expand and easier to remove or manipulate.
